2. Project 5-80, Review of Procedures, Printing Services Division [redacted]

a. A meeting was held to discuss the results of the test made to substitute a manual system for gathering printing statistics in place of the present system of using tabulating equipment. Messrs. [redacted] and [redacted] for the Printing Services Division and [redacted], Management Staff attended. The new report form was considered excellent and unquestionably a valuable supervisory tool. It was recognized that the manual system would be more economical to operate and enable the plant to render a report at least a week ahead of any report rendered from tabulating statistics. However, the change would necessitate the increase of one clerk and ceiling for the Printing Services Division. Various substitutes and innovations are being considered to see if satisfactory results can be obtained by a method that can be absorbed without an increase of slot or ceiling.

b. At the request of the Deputy Chief, Administrative Staff, [redacted] office of Logistics, Messrs. [redacted] attended a meeting for a preliminary review of a proposed organizational change in the Printing Services Division.
